Foreword

To be successful a yearbook must have a theme — an idea which unifies the book. Rather than use the artificial type theme prevalent in many yearbooks (the ones in which the school is likened to a circus, a space ship, a farm, et cetera; the principal to the ringmaster, the captain, the farmer, et cetera; the faculty and students to the performers, the space cadets, the farm hands, et cetera) the staff has organized the ARGONAUT 1957 around the names and faces of the faculty and students of Garden Grove High School and dedicates the book to them.

"'Tis pleasant, sure, to see one's name in print." — Lord Byron.

The development of rich and well integrated personalities and of socially efficient citizens were the two main objectives of the Social Studies Department. Hoping to bring about a lasting interest in history, to enhance students' ability to comprehend a series of successive events, and to improve the ability to visualize clearly overt acts of the historical scene, the department emphasized vocabulary terms, information concerning important persons, places, and dates in history, the ability to use books, skills in picture and map interpretation, and the actual making of maps.

The principal goal in all English classes was the development of proper and competent expression in both written and oral English. To achieve this, both regular English materials and such new study devices as the Controlled Reader and the Iowa Reading Program were used. Expressive skills were developed through courses in speech, drama, and stage productions, and writing skills were enhanced in journalism courses. Language arts were also developed in courses in Latin, French, and Spanish

Homemaking

To fulfill the aim of providing experiences through which young people can develop an understanding and an appreciation of family life, making it possible for all members to participate effectively in the activities of the home and the community, the Homemaking Department offered instructional units with experiences in the following areas of homemaking: family and social relationships, child study and guidance, housing and home furnishings, foods and nutrition, clothing, family health and home care of the sick, and home management

Creative opportunities were offered to students by the Art Department through courses in ceramics, crafts, commercial and fine arts courses. The success of students' individual projects is reflected in the amount of art work accepted in major student art competitions. Principals of education, entertainment, and service were correlated by the Music Department through the band, orchestra, and choral groups. Division of groups according to level of achievement gave equal opportunity for participation to both beginning and advanced students.

Through mechanical drawing and wood, metal, machine, and auto shop courses, the Industrial Arts Department aimed to develop skill in the uses of tools, machines, and materials, and to bring about an understanding of the basic types of construction, repair, and maintenance. Sound practices of safety in the school shop, with application to the home and everyday living, were also emphasized.

In Boys' P. E. Department emphasis was placed on "core courses" — touch football, basketball, track, baseball, swimming, badminton, volleyball, tumbling and apparatus — in order to give students a general idea about rules and basic skills. In the Girls' P. E. Department the principle of selection was stressed. Girls on freshman and sophomore level were acquainted with a wide variety of activities and emphasis was laid on physical fitness. Juniors and seniors were permitted to specialize in activities of their choice, keeping in mind the balance between team, individual sports, and rhythmic training.

1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the company is not making enough profit.

Interclub Council

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to define the problem. This involves identifying the symptoms of the problem and determining the scope of the problem. Once the problem has been defined, the next step is to identify the causes of the problem. This involves identifying the factors that are contributing to the problem and determining the underlying causes. Once the causes have been identified, the next step is to develop a plan of action. This involves identifying the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem and determining the resources that will be needed to implement the plan. Finally, the last step is to implement the plan and monitor the results. This involves putting the plan into action and tracking the progress of the solution. Once the problem has been solved, the final step is to evaluate the results and determine if the solution was effective. This involves comparing the results of the solution to the original problem and determining if the problem has been solved.

Coached by Mr. Don Webster and Mr. Ben Haley, the Argo 'B' team can be credited with having one of the best passing attacks seen in some time, supported by a strong line. Missing the league championship by one-half game, the "B's" had an impressive 7-win, 2-tie record. Ernie Musseman was named "Player of the Year," and Harry Hobson was voted "Most Improved Player." Raul Gomez was named "Freshman Player-of-the-Year."

"C" Football

As this year's football season opened there were very few experienced players back on the Mighty Mite's team. Due to lack of speed and weight the team didn't have a very successful season winning one, tying one, and losing five. However, under the coaching of Mr. Bruce Smith and Mr. Roger Wilson, they gained much needed experience for the years to come. Rich Mil edge was named the outstanding back, while Jack Brooks copped the outstanding lineman honors. Doc Campbell was captain.

Suffering ups and downs, Coach Al Well's varsity cagers finished Sunset League play with a seven-win, seven-loss record and a thirteen-win, eleven loss season total. The Argonauts were very defensive minded and had the best defensive record in the league. Gary Davis again led the team as captain and high-point man. Probably the biggest upset of the season was the Argos' 54-48 win over league champion Newport Harbor, avenging an earlier 56-44 defeat.

Exciting moments were many in the upper right photo. Gary Davis goes up against the Fullerton and in photo below Davis goes up against the Newport Harbor.

Dave Dowling, ARGONAUT editor, prepares final message to seniors.

Parting Thoughts

As we pass over the campus of Garden Grove High for the last time as students, let us recall the many experiences that have made our school so close to us. William Spooner once said 'I remember your name perfectly, but I just can't think of your face.' The '57 ARGONAUT staff hopes that this yearbook will be a reminder of names, faces, and events and will always be in your proud possession. Some friends we have made will always be close, while others will be remembered as you look through the pages of this book, remember the words to the Alma Mater — 'Argonauts endeavor . . . our best we strive to be

Exchange Students

Exchange students are those who have spent a year or more in a foreign country. They are usually sent by their home country to live with a family in the host country. This is a great way to learn about other cultures and languages. Exchange students usually stay with a family for a year or more.
